THE LABORS OF HERCULES ARE COMPARED TO THE TASKS OF THE STUDENTS IN

... for, just as the ancient Greek hero, Hercules, had to perform mighty feats that tested stamina, ingenuity and intelligence ... so our students must overcome their own sometimes seemingly impossible tasks as they follow the thread of education through the many years of school.

In our Annual these parallel labors have been presented in the art work and photographs.

IN MEMORIAM

On September 29, 1961, the flag flew at half mast at San Lorenzo Valley High School. The evening before, Glenn Bilyeu had passed away.

In July of 1948, Mr. Bilyeu began working at San Lorenzo Valley High School. Everyday for the next thirteen years, his job was his life. His main thought was of the children's safety on their way to and from school. He worked hard to keep the water, heating, and bell systems functioning smoothly. He continually dreamed and planned improvements for the school he loved.

Most of us at San Lorenzo Valley High can remember Mr. Bilyeu driving buses and fixing heaters for us on our first day of Kindergarten. When Mr. Bilyeu passed away we lost not only a Supervisor of Maintenance and Transportation, we also lost a friend.

DEDICATED TO

Her help in and out of class will long be remembered by all pupils fortunate enough to have had her as a teacher. She is known for her class discussions, with added humor to make the period seem shorter, and gives individual attention to all of her students no matter how small the problem may be.

With sincere feelings of respect and admiration, The Annual Staff dedicates the 1961-62 Sempervirens to Mrs. Schrieber, our teacher and Yearbook advisor.

Dear Students:

Hercules is reported to have succeeded in his twelve labors because as he was growing up he learned never to give up nor to accept less than his best.

Today you face a future filled with trials and uncertainties probably even greater than the ones Hercules surmounted. Atomic power holds the ever-present threat of annihilation; compulsory military service makes it difficult to plan post-high school years; automation casts a shadow over employment possibilities.

You can help conquer the problems facing your world if, like Hercules, you work diligently and continuously do your very best.

Sincerely,

E. F. Cartland

Dear Students,

It has been a pleasure to work with you this past year. I hope as you look back in years to come that you will be able to say that in all things you gave your very best and that from each mistake you gained a lesson--for in the end, success is attained by benefitting from our mistakes.

The Seniors had many wonderful memories of the activities of their last year . . . LED by the "Bearded one" the Seniors aroused enthusiasm for a gala parade and bonfire after the homecoming game . . . REMEMBER how Mouse burned down the Senior float?

AND who can forget Miss Baer sitting on her desk, talking about symbolism in the "Scarlet Letter"? UNEXPECTED FUN, tossing books aside the day of the local snow storm . . . OR the charming Senior girls arriving for the Senior jamboree in polk-a-dot bloomers!

NO day was complete without Mr. Weimers adjusting his podium preparing a fight against Communism with "Master's of Deceit" . . . SPEAKING of Mr. Weimers, back in our intellectual Senior minds, the "Twistin' Day" should ring a bell, his class was busy, not working but twisting!

THEN the unforgettable holiday at Soda Springs in the deep, deep, snow . . . our extra exchange student, Chris . . . digging out the bus . . . the game of truth or dare and the many snow fights, and there is no forgetting Mr. Andreasen!

OF COURSE we'll all remember Bermuda Day, making money the fun way!!

NO PARKING—The unforgettable parking lot with it's dust bowls and thick, mushy mud . . .

WOW! Another of our money making projects, the Senior high Fashion Show, with many girls staying up late sewing.

WHAT does this remind you of? "Smash the Nash", naturally, with "Down the Right Pipe" and the sledge hammer . . .

ALWAYS REMEMBER the Senior booth at the Carnival with it's nights and nights of working in the haunted house . . . making it suitable for "Drac" and the "Maid" . . .

THAT was the big question, the secret day when the Seniors would depart from the campus for their sneak day . . .

OR the problem of the class gift, but finally the problem was solved and a new American flag and stand appeared in the gym . . .

ONE last attempt was that of the Seniors to be excused from finals . . .

THE BIG NIGHT—Graduation with "Pomp and Circumstance" and the unforgettable graduation all night party.

AMEN

BRUCE ABROAD

DEAR STUDENTS:

I wish to express my gratitude for the vigorous efforts of all who have and are working for the advancement of the Americans Abroad program of the A.F.S.

The purpose of this program is to help create better understanding with the people of the world through the exchange of today's students, tomorrow's leaders.

I tried to represent my community and my country in a friendly and forthright manner during my stay in Denmark. I hope I fulfilled your faith in me, and in the youth of America.

Sincerely,

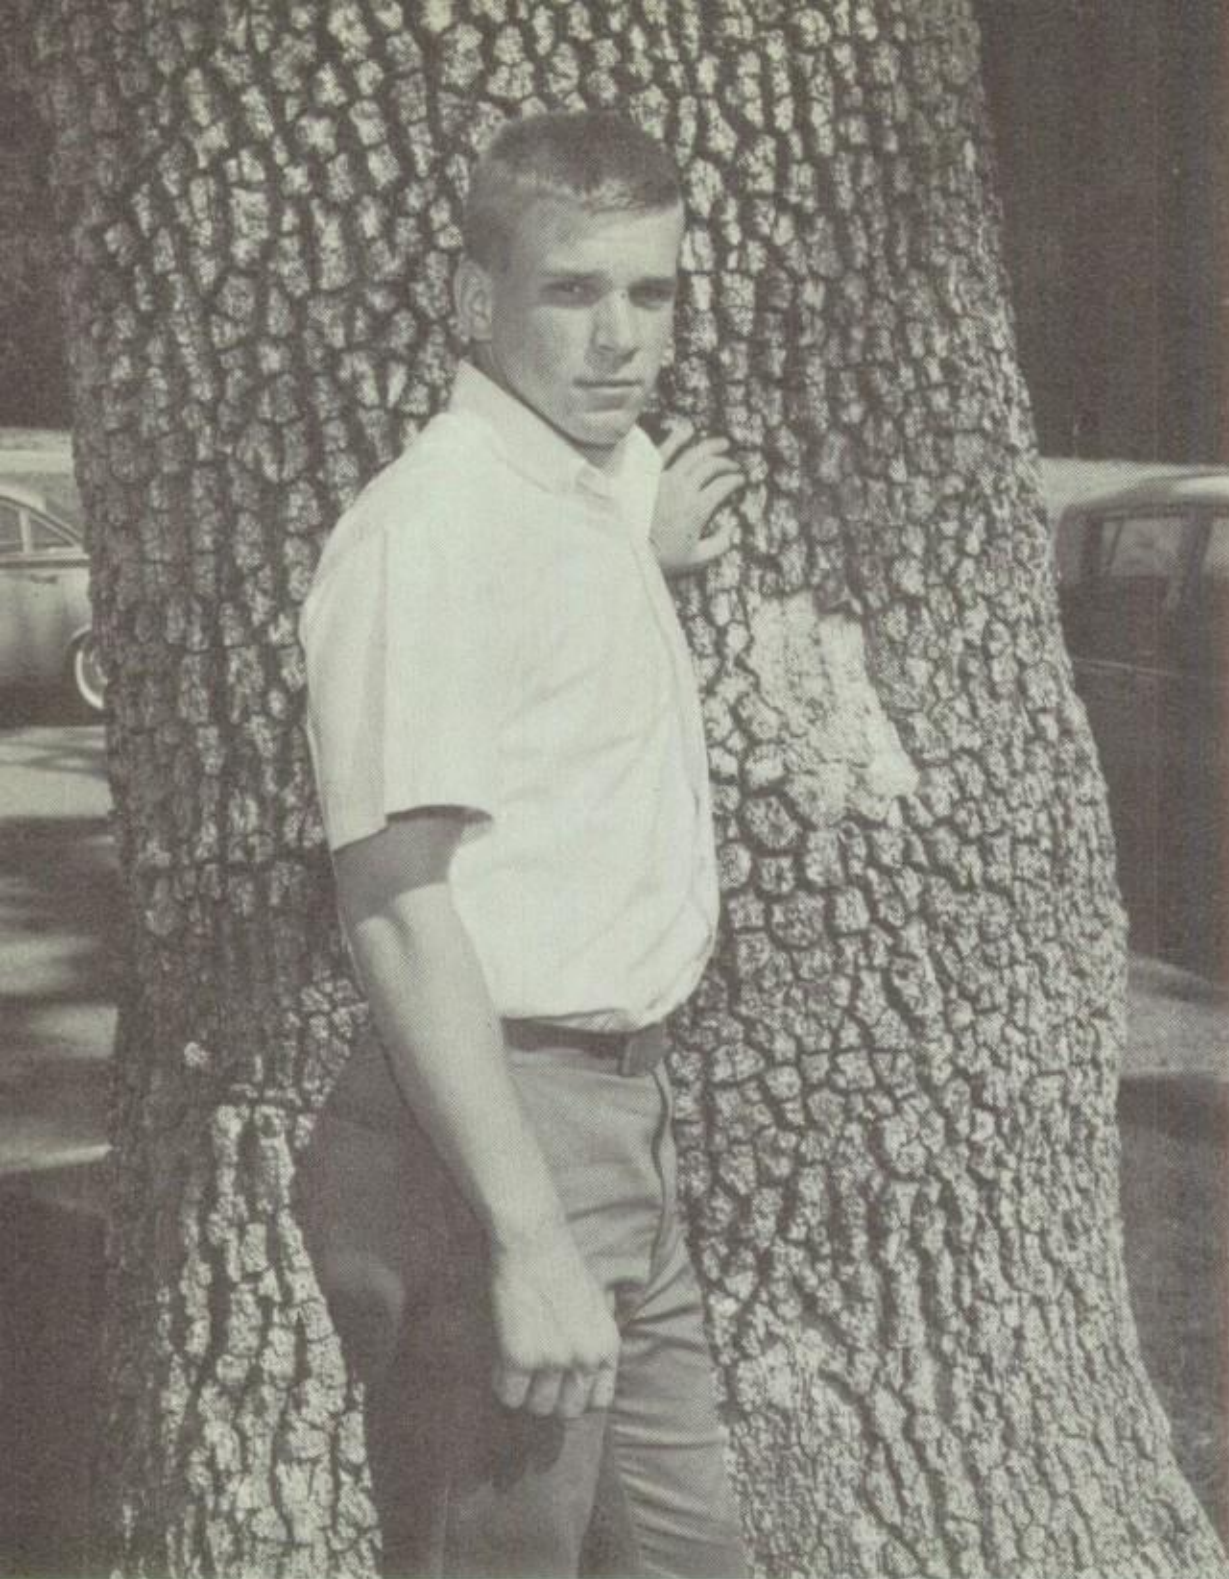

BRUCE FARRAND

The cheerleaders did a good job of leading the cheering section this past year. One of their many activities was Monday cupcake sales as a money raising project. A vote of thanks goes to our energetic and spirited cheerleaders.

DEAR STUDENTS

This beautiful Valley, surrounded by majestic redwoods, has become my second home.

1961-1962 has been a wonderful year of new experiences, and a better understanding of the country and about the people of America, which I will never forget.

This opportunity was possible because of your cooperation with the A.F.S.

The San Lorenzo Valley High School teachers and students have welcomed me, helped me feel at home, and made my stay a most pleasant one.

Attending school has been an enlightening and enjoyable experience because of the difference in the educational program. One example is the co-educational system, which I think is most interesting.

I found student body participation in school sports a pleasant relaxation particularly football games, which were new to me.

It will be unpleasant and hard to leave this country and all my new friends. I would like to thank you all very much for this year.

The rollicking Junior Class of 1961-62 had many activities this year. One was Slave Day. In this the girl is the boy's slave all day long. Slave Day was followed by a Slave Dance that evening. During the month of March the Juniors sponsored a series of cupcake sales, which proved to be quite filling. The Juniors were also represented this year by their booth in the annual Carnival. This booth not only added to the fun, but made our treasury swell a trifle. The Juniors were also responsible for that wonderful Junior-Senior Prom, put on for the Seniors in their last days of High School.

For the first time at S.L.V. the annual has been organized by a Journalism class. The annual was edited by Claudia McLoughlin, with the help of advisor, Mrs. Schreiber.

Besides organizing the annual, the staff had two booths at the Carnival—"The Jungle Hut" and the newspaper, "Back Street Journal." Sam Herczeg was selected as the editor of the newspaper.

The annual staff worked hard and continuously throughout the year.

The Cougar's 1961 football season began with a quick win of 6-0 against Junipero Serra.

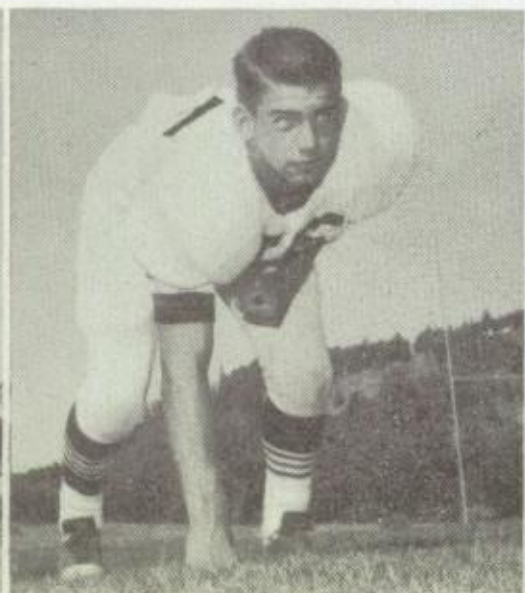

Then, due to injuries and the shortage of man power, the Cougars ran into a slump. Paul Oglesby of the Oakland Raiders donated his services as line coach, which helped out greatly.

Coach Richards, hoping to have another high scoring season, had the home games filmed. He hoped this would allow the members of the team to pick out their own mistakes.
